Member Spotlight

Jon Lohman, CSP
Regional Safety Coordinator | OVR East
Consolidated Grain and Barge Co

How did you get involved in the safety profession?

I was introduced to the Occupational Safety and Health career in my senior year of high school. My cousin, a Murray State graduate, took me on a campus tour and introduced me to their Occupational Safety and Health program. I have always been passionate about helping others, and the safety profession was an avenue to do exactly that.

My career as a safety professional started as a Safety Intern at AZZ Steel Galvanizing in 2012. After receiving my bachelor's degree from Murray State in 2013, I started my career at Compass Safety where I worked as a Safety Consultant. I then worked as the Business Manager for STAC Safety Training and Consulting out of Jasper, IN. Safety Consulting helped me gain experience in multiple different industries. I enjoyed helping companies develop their safety programs and cultures from the ground up. After 5 years in Safety Consulting, I accepted a job as a Regional Safety Coordinator with Consolidated Grain & Barge Co.

Tell us about your greatest accomplishment in your life and/or career.

My greatest accomplishment in life is my son and daughter.

What advice would you give someone looking to start a career in the safety field?

My advice would be to get involved in ASSP. It is important to build a network of fellow safety professionals you can lean on throughout your career.

Why did you become involved in ASSP?

I joined ASSP as a student member back in 2008 while at Murray State. After moving back to Louisville to start my career, I became a member of the Louisville Chapter.

What are your hobbies outside of work?

I enjoy camping, backpacking, fishing, and spending time with my family.

September Meeting Highlight

Scott Warner, Safety and Rigging Trainer/Consultant with Kentuckiana Wire Rope and Supply provided chapter members with an amazing knowledge of rigging information and know-how during our September meeting. Thank you for an amazing educational experience for chapter members!

October Meeting

October 20 | 11:45 am - 1:00 pm

Location: 1500 Alliant Ave, Louisville, Kentucky, 40299

Topic: Active Aggressor Training Overview

Speakers

Eric Culver

Eric Culver is a 21-year law enforcement officer at both the local and federal levels. He regularly served in tactical positions with extensive leadership and teamwork experience. He has possession of real-world knowledge of decision making during highly critical incidents. This understanding provided the opportunity for command and control of departmental operations at various levels.

Dale Massey

Dale Massey is a retired Police Lieutenant and former Commander of LMPD SWAT. In his duties while in Law Enforcement, he has personally responded to several Active Aggressor incidents. He is currently the Chief Instructor and founder of Strategic Threat Assessment Training (STAT). His unique skill sets are used to train both private & public entities in the preparation and response to Active Aggressor events.
